OUR STORY

Three generations of building.

NDR began in 1954, when a family rooted in agriculture started with a modest land parcel and a rice mill. What followed was not a real estate company but a discipline: acquire land, build on it, and build institutions around it.

In 1996 the group developed India's first private bonded warehouse — an industry first. In 2002, Lenovo's first industrial facility in India rose in Puducherry, built to international manufacturing and warehousing specifications two decades ahead of the industry.

In 2015 NDR InvIT Trust was incorporated, and in 2018 it listed on the NSE through an INR 8.8 bn IPO — India's first warehousing InvIT. Today NDR Smart Spaces develops, owns and manages institutional-grade assets across the complete asset lifecycle, recycling capital from completed assets into new development.

“A modest land parcel, a rice mill, and a multi-generational legacy.”

Mr. Naidu Dasarathi Rami Reddy · Founder, 1954

THE JOURNEY

1954 to today.

Six milestones from the group's own corporate record — evidence, not spectacle.

1954

Group founded

A family rooted in agriculture begins with a modest land parcel and a rice mill.

Land is the starting point of the entire model — acquired, entitled and built upon over generations.

1996

First bonded warehouse

India's first private bonded warehouse — an industry first for the group.

The move into institutional warehousing begins: spec-built, strategically located, developed to a standard the market had not yet asked for.

2002

Lenovo Puducherry

Lenovo's first industrial facility in India, built under NDR Warehousing.

Delivered to international manufacturing and warehousing specifications — two decades ahead of the industry.

2015

NDR InvIT Trust incorporated

The group's infrastructure investment trust is established.

The capital channel is formed — the vehicle through which completed assets are offered and monetized.

2018

InvIT listed

NDR InvIT lists on the NSE through an INR 8.8 bn IPO.

India's first warehousing InvIT — the group's development platform is now visible to public-market investors.

2025–26

SPV monetizations

MLG (INR 143.9 cr) and SPV transfers to NDR InvIT complete the capital cycle.

Monetized capital recycles into new development — the loop closes and begins again.
